Notes

Jimmy Sky is an actor, singer, writer and musician hailing from Queensland, Australia.

On the silver screen Sky is known for roles in feature films 'Honeysuckle Way' (2017) and 'Myall Creek' (2018) as well as 'The Infant' (short, 2015) 'Swindler in the Swale' (short, 2016) and 'The Undeniable Truth' (finalist, Roma Cinema DOC Film Festival). Sky's early acting career consisted of work in bush theatre and student films such as 'Hommouside' (2002) developing quickly alongside his passion for music and the written word. His training in the dramatic arts were derived largely from personal mentoring in the Chekhovian method. Today, he draws on more than twenty years' combined experience from theatre, film sets, and stage performance in bands.

In music, Sky served as vocalist and guitarist for a variety of touring and recording acts such as The Wyrld, A Name Will Come, Flowers For Lily, KUNST and Love Hate Rebellion. He has composed, recorded and performed with industry stalwarts including producers Jeff Lovejoy and Govinda Doyle, as well as math-rock guitar legend Peter Mengede. Sky's bands have enjoyed their share of recognition with local, national and international radio play, stage time with international touring acts, and airtime on TV programs such as RAGE. Flowers For Lily were nominated for an Independent Music Award for their EP 'A Name Will Come' in 2009, while Love Hate Rebellion received an Akademia Award with 'Wake Up Now' for Best Song in a Pop Rock category in 2016.

As a solo artist, Sky's discography is diverse and prolific, a broad spectrum of creative talent evident as he composes, performs, records, edits and releases the majority of his records alone; including graphic and photo art, liner notes, and music videos. Beyond his own back catalogue, Sky has contributed music and scoring to a number of art house shorts and student films. Recently his music featured in independent feature films 'Tough Love' (2017) and 'Myall Creek' (2018).

As an author Sky has published a novella entitled 'Two Views', as well as a number of freelance magazine articles for online music magazines. He also works as a freelance script writer, story consultant and script editor in film.

Raised on a bushland property and in the back of a travelling caravan by his father, Sky was home schooled and achieved Dux for Economics in Senior year of High School but did not attend University, later gaining qualifications in Business and Management. He credits his father and his late grandmother with a gentle push toward creative pursuits. His early experiences tempered his approach to art and life.

To date Jimmy Sky continues his work in music, film and literature.
