Notes

Marv is energetic and easy to work with human, with youthful energy and look. He acts and does commercial work as well as writing and performing his own standup comedy material. He has been in leading roles in productions including stage musicals and an upcoming comedy series. With IMDB credits building he presents an exciting option for your casting.

In another life, Marv was a Family Counsellor working with the most marginalised and disenfranchised populations in society, to create true self-identified change. He did this throughout the world and is now interested in peeling back the layers and seeing through the smokescreens within society to tell true, authentic, and/or humorous stories through acting.

As a young man and father, Marv has a well of life experience to draw upon and inject into any comedic acting roles, dramatic acting roles, commercial roles, or others. With his South African heritage, he represents both the modern young and professional Australian and also the world citizen. He looks forward to the journey ahead as he has appreciated the journey behind.
