DESCRIPTION

I am an actor based in Melbourne and enjoy spending time with my loved ones and friends. During my free time I like to perfect my craft in acting either by watching and re-creating scenes from movies or finding and studying scripts from critically acclaimed films and shows. I enjoy the outdoors and staying active. I was originally born in Japan, then moved to Australia in 2011 to live my new life in Melbourne.

Dear Director,

I am excited to apply for the position of Drama Teacher at Stage Schools Australia. As a passionate actor myself, I am keen to join a team that will help guide and inspire young people and build essential life skills.

I began my own journey at Stage Left Performing Arts School when I was 7 years old through to 12 years old. I loved the rehearsals and end of year shows and this experience led me to audition for the Drama program at Rowville Institute of the Arts. The 6 years I spent in the program were amazing, allowing me to grow as a person as well as hone my craft. Along the way I mentored juniors and took on advisory roles in School Productions for those less experienced. I also obtained qualifications that support my teaching aspirations.

I am an excellent communicator, with well developed people skills and a genuine interest in teaching others. I'm reliable, hardworking, determined and always willing to learn new things. I know the importance of having fun whilst balancing the demands of putting on performances.

I am confident that I could effectively teach and make worthwhile contributions in the area of Drama and welcome the opportunity to elaborate further on my skills and experience.

Yours Sincerely,
Hyu Motoki
